

Joseph T Molony Jr, PT, MS, SCS, CSCS

Joe attended Thomas Jefferson University, obtaining his Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Physical Therapy in 1992. He received the "Class Award" for demonstrating "the qualities of leadership, professionalism and integrity". He also received a "Service Award" for demonstrating "service to the department, college, university and or profession". He is a board certified Sports Clinical Specialist, a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist, and 2 two term chair of the Youth Athlete Special Interest Group for the Sports Section of the American Physical Therapy Association (APTA). He is also the co-developer of APTA's Young Athlete Home Study Course.

Joe has served on the APTA's Sports Board Certification Specialization Academy of Content Experts (SACE) as an item writer as well as the Standard Setting committee. He is an active member of PRiSM, the Pediatric Research in Sports Medicine society, and has authored and edited book chapters and peer reviewed journals nationally and internationally. Joe has served as an Adjunct Professor of Widener University's Doctor of Physical Therapy Program and has been a member of the Executive Board of Directors of the Athlete Health Organization, which provides free pre participation sports physicals for the city of Philadelphia. As Program Manager of The Sports Medicine and Performance Center at The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, Joe played a key role in developing the program into a world renowned center of excellence.

Joe is Coordinator of the Young Athlete Program at Hospital for Special Surgery in New York and is a certified Emergency Response instructor for the APTA's Sports Section.